

What you've heard is true.

We've been making some changes, and we can't keep them a secret any more.

...and neither should you.

Over the years, Cicada has worked with our customers closely to study what “works” in branding their organization and communicating their messages. Technology changes every day, and so does the way people interact and engage with messaging. Cicada has kept pace with all these changes and we are constantly adjusting to ensure our customers are on the forefront of marketing trends. We've put together a list of changes you should consider right now. Learn more here: <http://cicadagraphics.com/what-you-heard-is-true>

